SOUL STIRING EVENTS

People from inland Kentucky have the rare opportunity of witnessing combined Army and Navy life at the most historic spot in the United States.

THINK OF IT!

The landing place of the Jamestown settlers, the Pocahontas and Capt. John Smith incident, Cornwallis surrendering his British forces, the battle of the Monitor and Merrimack, and last, but not the least, the launching of the

As soon as the date of launching is settled on, it will be given wide publicity in the papers.

Sues for $20,000.

Mrs. Adeline Sebastian, widow of Marion Sebastian, who was killed in this city last June, has, through her attorney, J. Mort Rothwell, filed suit against the Turners for $20,000, claiming that by killing her husband they deprived her and her children of their only support and protection. The case will come up next month.

A Lane Dodge.

We notice several "specials" sent from Nicholasville and Danville intimating that the raiders in those counties "are from Garrard." Now, it is true we have had raiders in Garrard, but we do not like the idea of our sister counties saying we supply the state at large with pole choppers. Of course everybody knows the raiders belong where the devilment is done, but we think it would look just a little more like the fair thing if the sensational telegraph reporters would confine themselves to the truth.

Tribute of Respect.

We, as a church, teachers and scholars join in sincere condolences with Bro. Rucker, wife and children in the great calamity that has just befallen them in the tragic death of their only son, George.

It is another potent reminder that "In the midst of life, we are in death." They have the consolation in that his tender age has relieved him of all earthly responsibility. "He is safe in arms of Jesus." May God's grace sustain and comfort them in this sad trial.

Look Out for Them.

There are about twenty Lancaster negroes in Middlesboro who are the snail-pox now rages. Unless a sharp lookout is kept some of these will slip back here. If they are taken with symptoms they are sure to make a bed time for home.

Meeting Closed.

Rev. Henry Faulconer's meeting at the Presbyterian church came to a close Sunday night. The attendance during the entire two week's time was good and a great deal of interest was awakened among the members and Christian people of the town generally. Eleven have united with the church and several more will probably do so Sunday.

Scarlet Fever.

Irene, the pretty little daughter of Mr. W. J. Romans, is confined to her bed by a case of scarlet fever. A son of Mr. T. J. Hatcher also has the disease, and we understand, there are two other cases in town. It is in a very mild form and doctors have little fear of it spreading. The Graded School has not suspended, and will do so unless there is absolute danger in continuing.

Small Pox Still Raging.

The small pox at Middlesboro continues to grow worse and is serious. Indeed, if the plague could only have struck the ex-Magic several years ago and kept some of our folks away, Lancaster would have been many thousands better off today.

Better Stay at Home.

We understand there is some talk of taking the Old Maids Convention to a neighboring town. The old gals had better let that alone. A home-talent show is all right when given at home, but amateurs appearing before strangers generally goes pretty hard with both, the latter in particular.

Fire-Em Out.

The crowd which hangs about the Court House to loaf and drink has gotten to be such a nuisance that one officer has started up a placard requesting them to keep their vials in their pockets. There is always a crowd hanging about the offices, and it is hard to see how the officers transact business, so much are they annoyed by fellows who hug their staves all day long.

Pikes.

Natters in turnpike circles are quiet. The three roads continue to collect toll, but no guards on duty in the county. It has been reported that this county had guards stationed at the bridge over Lexington and Danville pike, but we are informed by the county judge that such is not the case. How long the gates will stand is hard to say. They may be destroyed any time, but we hope no violence will be resorted to, and the companies and court yet make a trade.

The Royal is the highest grade baking powder known. Actual tests show it goes one-third further than any other brand.

FALSE REPORTS.

Being Circulated to the Effect that a Case of Small Pox Exists in Lancaster.

We regret very much that a report is being circulated over the county that a case of small pox is in Lancaster. Some one started a report that a man named Clark had come from Middlesboro and was now down with a genuine case. We can state positively that such is not the case. Nobody has come here from Middlesboro for several weeks, nor could a person come from there without everybody knowing it, a sharp lookout being kept for that purpose.

There is no more danger in coming to Lancaster than there is in going to any other town, and it is to be very much regretted that the idle and false rumor gained circulation.

The "Old Bachelors" Convention.

An antelope to The Old Maids' Convention will be one of the most entertaining and unique entertainments given in Lancaster for many years.

The convention will be composed of the Lancaster Concert Band—leading local talent, and both Old and Young Bachelors. The entertainment will be side-splitting from the beginning, and those who attend will be laughing a year hence. The young men are working hard, and time nor labor will be spared to make the convention a howling success. Don't forget the date. Court House, Friday night, March 4th, 7:30 o'clock. Price within reach of all. Let every one come.

Business Change.

John M. Logan closed a trade with W. T. West Saturday night for the latter's stock of dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes, etc., and an invoice is now being made of same. Mr. Logan will close out the present stock at actual cost and put in a full line of dry goods, notions, etc. He will handle only the choicest, up-to-date goods, and will always have on hand what our people want. His long experience in both the retail and wholesale goods business will enable him to secure an I keep on hand one of the best stocks ever shown in Kentucky. Mr. Logan is a popular man among our people, and all gladly welcome him back into business. He has engaged space in THE RECORD to let the people know what he will have, and by watching his ads, you will know what you want and where to get it. Mr. Logan will quit traveling and give his entire attention to this store.

A Big Enterprise.

A RECORD man drove out to the Pilgrimage distillery the other morning and was shown over the big plant. Although only a stone's throw from town, few of our people are aware of what an immense enterprise and how much money is invested in this distillery. The original plant was erected by Col. John W. Miller. This was destroyed by fire, excepting the large war-house, in February 1893. Previous to the fire, the Levy Brothers, of Cincinnati, purchased the plant. Immediately after its destruction they began the erection of the present plant. The distillery proper is built entirely of brick and is a model of convenience and perfection, only the latest improved machinery and fixtures being used. As a rule, a distillery is a very dirty place but here everything is as neat and clean as a new pin. The tubs, floors, and machinery are scrubbed and rubbed daily and a stylishly dressed lady could go all over the premises without soiling a thread.

The distiller, Mr. Calvin Nevius, is said, by those who know, to be one of the best in the state, and judging from the excellent article produced, this reputation is well earned. The plant is now in operation and 103 bushels are mashed per day, from which Mr. Nevius produces from 9 to 10-12 barrels of whisky.

The bottling department is a new feature with distillers, the government only recently granting them that privilege. This department at the Pilgrimage is under the direction of Mr. Jake Korta, of Paducah. The arrangement is perfect and, as Mr. Korta is an expert hand at the business, the goods of the Pilgrimage will go to customers looking second to none. The company is bottling some of its six-year-old goods, which is considered as fine whisky as can be found in the state. The liquor is placed in a large copper tank and passes through a perfect filtering machine before reaching the bottles. Mr. Korta has a force of men who cork, seal and label the bottles. They are then put in cases and are ready for shipment.

We were surprised to learn of the enormous quantity of whisky in the Pilgrimage warehouse. There are two tremendous houses, both built on the most modern plan. In these are stored 4,320 to 4,400 barrels of whiskey. It is worth a trip out there just to go through these enormous warehouses. As manager, Col. Miller is said to be one of the best in Kentucky. He has an iron control over the plant, and whatever he wants or suggests is promptly granted by the company, which goes to show the high estimation they have for him. We do not know of any man who comes any nearer attending to his own business and letting other peoples alone than does John W. Miller, nor do we know of one who will respond quicker to a request by a friend for a favor. By close attention to business, and splendid management, he has gotten in shape to enjoy the "shady side of the street", and whatever he has is always free and welcome to his friends.

Judge W. E. Walker and Mr. Joe L. Arnold have charge of Uncle Sam's affairs as store-keeper and gauger, respectively. They have a great deal of business to attend to and are kept on the go. The judge, as usual, finds time to tell jokes and keep everyone about him in a good humor.

The Pilgrimage runs six months in the year, consequently puts much money in the hands of laborers who live in Lancaster. The whisky is shipped all over the United States, and nearly every day a car load is taken from the special side track. Those who know claim the whisky made at the Pilgrimage is as fine as any produced in the state, and, judging from the ready sale it meets, the opinion must be true.

Buffalo Roller Mills.

Paint Lick, Ky.

It cost money to advertise and we do not advertise for fun or pastime, but mean business, strictly. We do believe that we are in shape to give you as good flour in exchange for your wheat as can be made and as most all wheat that was raised in 1897 was good it is a rare exception that we fail to give our customers 34 lbs. of our faultless flour and 10 lbs. bran for every bushel of wheat. If you will try us with a wagon load of wheat we are sure you will come again. We are prepared to exchange flour every day except Sunday. We guarantee our flour just like we do when we sell it. If it is not good return it and we will satisfy you.
